

The following picture was taken at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum when Pope John Paul II visited Los Angeles. I took the top picture (#1) and in the lower left corner, I captured the back of a young girl's head whose blond hair was up in a ponytail (circled). After looking at the picture, I noticed what appeared to be the Face of Christ in her ponytail. I enlarged that section of the photo (see circle in #2) and now His Face appears even more distinctly. I just thought I'd share this photo and let everyone decide for themselves. God bless you. -Mike R.
